Peli iM2100 waterproof carrying case

The Peli iM2100 waterproof transport case is designed to effectively secure sensitive equipment when on the move or on the move. Its robust design resists impact, water splashes and dusty environments, ensuring reliable protection in all circumstances.

It is particularly suited to professionals looking for a durable solution for transporting their equipment in complete safety.

Optimized capacity for greater versatility

With a more generous interior volume, the iM2100 lets you organize and transport different types of equipment without compromising protection. It's equally at home with technical tools, electronics and specific accessories.

This professional carrying case offers the right balance between storage capacity and ease of handling.

Robust design based on Peli Storm know-how

Made from resistant materials, the iM2100 benefits from the recognized know-how of the Storm range. It is designed to absorb mechanical stress and preserve the integrity of the contents, even in difficult conditions.

Its secure closure system and watertight design provide long-lasting protection for transported equipment.

Applications and uses

- Transport of technical and industrial equipment
- Protection of electronic equipment
- Organization of professional equipment
- Use in the field

What is the advantage of the Peli iM2100 over a more compact format?

The iM2100 allows you to carry a larger volume of equipment while remaining easy to handle. It's an ideal intermediate solution between compactness and capacity.

For what uses is this case recommended?

It is particularly well suited to professionals who need to carry several items of equipment or accessories, while guaranteeing a high level of protection against shocks and external conditions.