First Aid Supplies Kit

This first aid supplies kit is designed to restock first aid kits, cases, and boxes when certain items have been used or need to be replaced. It combines, in a single package, a selection of supplies commonly used in first aid.

With various sizes of bandages, sterile gauze pads, pressure bandages, gloves, and various first-aid supplies, this kit allows you to build an immediately available stockpile to keep first-aid equipment complete and ready for use.

Quickly restock a kit after use

When first aid is administered, the items used must be replaced so that the kit or case remains fully stocked. This set ensures you have the supplies most likely to need replenishing on hand in advance, without having to order each item separately.

It can be used to restock a single kit or kept in reserve to replenish multiple kits located in different departments, vehicles, or work areas.

A handy supply for the most frequently used items

Bandages, gauze pads, gloves, and vials are among the most frequently used items in a first-aid kit. Their absence may go unnoticed if the contents aren't checked after each use.

Keeping this set of supplies in reserve allows you to quickly restock on-site supplies and minimize the time a first-aid kit remains incomplete.

Simplify tracking of first aid kits and cases

The transparent pouch allows you to quickly see part of its contents and keep everything grouped together in a space designated for first-aid supplies. In particular, it can be incorporated into the inventory checked during periodic inspections of first-aid kits, cases, and bags.

These checks help identify missing items, opened packages, or supplies nearing their expiration dates, allowing for restocking as needed.

A supplement, not a complete kit

This set is intended to supplement existing first-aid equipment. It does not include certain durable accessories found in a complete first-aid kit, such as scissors, a splinter remover, or a survival blanket.

When inspecting the kit, it is therefore still important to separately check for the presence and condition of these items to ensure the kit remains suited to the site's needs.
