Large School First Aid Kit

The large-size School First Aid Kit is designed for schools, recreation centers, and other facilities that care for children. Its size allows for a more comprehensive selection of supplies than the compact kits intended primarily for travel, while still providing a container that is easy to carry.

Made of fluorescent green polyurethane (PU), it features a reflective cross, a zipper closure, a handle, and several interior pockets for organizing the various supplies.

A large size for a more comprehensive selection of supplies

This kit combines the supplies needed for minor everyday injuries with several additional items. In addition to bandages, gauze pads, and adhesive tape, it includes a sterile pressure bandage, a forehead thermometer, and hemostatic wicks.

This combination allows you to have products covering various needs in a single container without having to use multiple small kits or separate storage solutions.

Products designed for minor incidents during the school day

The kit is designed to address several common situations: the various sizes of bandages and sterile compresses are intended for minor cuts, while the calendula compresses provide relief for minor bumps. Soothing compresses are also included for use after an insect bite.

Saline solution rounds out the kit for when rinsing is needed, while the bandages, adhesive tape, and triangular bandage provide support materials right in the kit.

Enhanced supplies for bleeding

The large model stands out for including a sterile pressure bandage and a pack of Coalgan® hemostatic wicks. These items supplement standard bandages when the situation requires materials specifically designed for compression or hemostasis.

The forehead thermometer and safety pins also expand the contents compared to a lighter school first-aid kit.

A Visible and Easy-to-Find Kit

The fluorescent green color combined with the retro-reflective cross makes it easy to identify first-aid supplies in a room, a vehicle, or among equipment carried during an activity.

The interior pockets, meanwhile, allow for the organization of various supplies to minimize the time spent searching for equipment when it is needed.

For institutions and activities involving children

This kit can be used in a school, a recreation center, or during organized activities with groups of children. Its large size is particularly useful when you need a versatile and portable kit rather than one limited to just basic bandages.
